"Sarah Bergs is an average grade school girl--who just happens to love art! She has been designing beadwork patterns since the age of 5, and sold them on the internet for almost as long. Most of them she sells through her mom's website, www.designsbydeb.com but has also sold them through on-line pay for print sites, and currently sells them through the BeadCoop.

Generally, her designs are very simple, and use a lot of different colors--which can be easily substituted for others as fancy strikes you. Many stores buy her designs to use for beginner or children's classes because they allow for a lot of personal expression in the choice of colors used. As well as the fact that they are great for using up small leftover amounts of beads! She recently was offered a book contract by Design Orriginals, of children's patterns designed by a child, for children! She has enlisted several children to bead fairy for her, so that the book will be patterns for children, by a child, beaded by children (and possibly one or two grandmothers!)

She loves animals, has two hamsters (Buster and Midnight), three dogs (Buzz, Jasmine and Tiny) and two cats (Mia and Frosty), and at various times frogs, mice and other assorted wildlife that she brings home. She isn't sure what she wants to be when she grows up, but has said she might want to be an art teacher. I think she'll do well!"

Sarah has twenty-two patterns available here at BeadCoop and will be making more for us to enjoy here soon.

I think that this Little Gal has found a Beady Nitch for herself.

BEADING TIP OF THE WEEK

Use inexpensive ribbed placemats to do beadwork on.
It keeps the beads from rolling onto the floor and you can use the ribs to line up designs.
