I started designing because I got tired of redesigning 6 to 7 inch bracelet patterns, making them longer and sometimes twice as wide as the original pattern.

My patterns are generally between 7 to 8 inches long & 1.5 to 2.25 inches wide. Of course you can make my patterns shorter, thinner, longer or wider because they are usually repeat patterns or use size 15/0 to create a smaller bracelet with a much more intricate design.

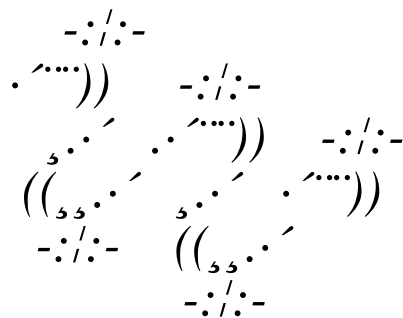

I hope you find my patterns interesting and stimulating, as I love to dabble in geometric, abstract, repeat patterns and tessellations. You will have conversational pieces of art when you wear my designs.

- Introduction

BE SURE TO GET MY FREE PATTERNS AND THE 4 FREE DELICA 'SAFE BEAD' LISTS THAT I HAVE COMPILED FOR DELICAS 11/0 & 15/0. ALL THESE BEADS ARE DURABLE...THEY WILL NOT FADE, RUB OFF, CUT THE THREAD OR BREAK EASILY. THE LISTS ALSO INDICATE THE FINISH OF EACH BEAD AND WHETHER IT POPS OR RECEDES IN DESIGNS.

Lots of my customers download these lists to their phones to help them when shopping for their beads. Please see my explanation of these lists below to help you understand how they can help you choose colors and finishes.

The lists are based on the "Durability Chart" at the Miyuki site and exclude dyed or galvanized beads because they fade &/or the color rubs off with time. Based on my personal experience Satin/Silk beads are also excluded because they are thinner than other Delica beads and break very easily. Satin/Silk beads also have very sharp edges and cut the Fireline that I used.

All my pattern's palettes suggest only the Delica "safe beads" from these lists. If you stick with these "safe beads" you will never have to spray with Krylon to prevent rub off and/or fading.

The palette colors are only suggestions, but if you do change up the suggested colors, please refer to the 4 "Safe Bead Lists" which I have compiled for size 11 and 15 Delicas to help you in the selection of bead colors and finishes and please remember to avoid dyed or galvanized and satin/silk beads, so you won't be disappointed later. It would be a shame to put money, time and effort into your piece only to have the color change, the thread cut or have the beads break. I want your beadwork to last forever.

- Introduction

The lists also indicate the finish of each bead and you will notice a P, PR, RP or R after the Delica's Mfg Code. I try to mix the finishes in my patterns so it is not all shiny or all matte. I use P (popping colors), R (receding colors) or PR/RP (those that can pop or recede) together if possible so the design, using contrasting effects is very distinct and stands out, which makes a more interesting, artistic beaded piece.

P - stands for Popping finish, it stands out (it is the shiniest);

PR - stands for Popping or Receding finish, it can stand out or recede depending on what it is placed next to (not as shiny as P);

RP - stands for Receding or Popping finish, it can recede or stand out depending on what it is placed next to (less shiny and more flat than PR); and

R - stands for receding finish - it will recede or fade into the background of your piece (matte finish with no shine).

If you change my suggested colors, use my Delica "safe bead" lists when shopping for beads and mix the P, PR, RP and R if possible, so you don't get either a too flat or overpowering popping effect in your beaded piece.

- General Bead Instructions

Don't let the licensing agreement described below discourage you from making and selling anything based on my designs. What I have done with beaders who wish to sell items made from my designs is a simple agreement whereby they:

1. Send me usable photos of the finished product so that I can then use the photos to show prospective buyers that the pattern works up well;

2. Supply me a list of the bead colors/sizes & manufacture's name that were used to bead the piece if the original colors were changed;

3. Give me credit wherever they list the product and to post a link back to me when possible at:

<http://www.artfire.com/ext/shop/studio/BeadholdenDesigns>;

When I use your pic/s, I will give you credit for the beading and link back to you when possible.

Right now I have several beaders/sellers who do this. They sell the bracelets or other items in many places, including etsy and artfire, etc. They also do special consignment orders based on my designs as requested.

Once you email me good, usable pics of a beaded piece, I will let you have a replacement pattern, of your choice, free and you will never have to buy my patterns again - you get one free pattern for each pattern you send good, usable pictures. Let me know what you think and I look forward to hearing from you.

Under copyright laws, you agree that:

1. You will not copy or share any part of this pattern with anyone; including not using patterns for teaching purposes.

- General Bead Instructions

2. You will not mass produce this pattern and will only use the pattern for your personal, non-commercial use; you will not create something from this pattern to sell to anyone which includes: friends, charity events, craft fairs, on-line auctions, websites, etc., unless you contact me to arrange for a separate licensing agreement.

3. You will not display any finished items made from this pattern in magazines, on websites, on-line auctions, etc., unless you contact me to arrange for a separate licensing agreement.

Thank you for abiding by the copyright laws and respecting me as an artist.
